

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A head-off golf tee comprising:
a tee body having a tip end and a flat end; and a cap having one hole in one end and one flat portion in another end;
5 wherein the flat end of the tee body is assembled into the hole of the cap.
2. The head-off golf tee as claimed in claim 1, wherein the tee body is assembled into the hole of the cap and a golf ball is placed on the flat portion of the cap for being beaten.